

September 6, 2011 (McLean, VA) Today SSi Consulting announced its highly-anticipated launch of Cloud Accounting for Microsoft Dynamics SL and GP. SSi Consulting now offers hosted ERP in order to provide customers access to accounting, inventory, distribution, business intelligence and financial reports without requiring costly server hardware.

“It is no longer necessary to burden IT staff with complicated hardware in order to track accounting data. Tapping the power of cloud computing significantly reduces expenses. We are eager to provide our clients with this cost-effective accounting solution,” commented Bill Aiton, President of SSi Consulting. “We are very excited to provide access-anywhere Microsoft Dynamics for a low monthly fee.”

SSi Consulting also confirmed that customers can subscribe to Cloud Accounting risk-free for 30 days. “Now is the time for organizations to experience the power of Microsoft’s business applications. Cloud Accounting is revolutionizing ERP. ,”said Karen Riordan, Assistant Vice President of Business Development at SSi. “We are encouraging all of our current and prospective clients to try it and we are confident that Cloud Accounting will prove its worth in just 30 days .”

Serving organizations in the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia for more than 27 years, SSi Consulting is comprised of expert teams of CPAs, consultants, systems engineers and project managers. Approaching accounting needs with a collaborative working style that values honest two-way communication, SSi Consulting works closely with Microsoft, even serving on Microsoft’s Product Advisory Board.

To learn more about SSi Consulting and Cloud Accounting, visit www.ssiconsulting.com.